Applaud this work of Michael Parkin. 3 October 1997Q: Java - Encryption / Decryption The program should receive text input and the encrypt to a file. The encryption should be reversed when the file is opened so that the original text is on file. I have it mostly working but when I open the file I get some garbled results when I decrypt that doesn't look like the original text input. What am I missing here? This is what I have for the encryption:

public class Encryptor { public void
encode(String text) throws IOException {
