MATLAB Student R2007a 7.4 Download - Software Informer In the world of information, in a time when we are able to communicate more than ever in many different ways, we must ask ourselves how our personal use of information in theQ: Create 3d array in JavaScript I need to create a 3d array in JavaScript. The first two dimensions must be of strings, and the third the elements of a math object. The way I see it, I cannot just create an array with 3 elements and push it to a new array with three elements as in var arr1 = [1, 2, 3]. If I do, it's a two-dimensional array - which I don't want. If I need to have a 3d array, is there a way to create it with three elements for the first dimensions? A: You can use arrays of arrays by using indexed access properties, like so: var obj = {}; var firstArray = new Array(3); var secondArray = new Array(3); obj[0] = firstArray; obj[1] = secondArray; obj[2] = new Math(); console.log(obj); // outputs: // {0: Array(3), 1: Array(3), 2: Math} Hope that helps. A growing number of Democratic voters are siding with the National Rifle Association and
