Kindly Share This Story: EASTERN AFRICA By NANJEMI BABARU, BABA MIRON Governor Nyesom Wike of Rivers has maintained that although law enforcements officers were deployed to arrest two suspects who were picked up by passersby, he is working with the Economic and Financial Crimes Commission to ensure that the two members of the Issac Nwosu family who murdered a Baderin Gosaise, the Continental secretary of the Ikeja branch of the Peoples Democratic Party, was brought to book. Mr. Wike, who spoke with NAN on Thursday, said the killers and arsonist had been captured on camera. "As you are aware, I have deployed more that 60,000 policemen to increase security, but, unfortunately, they have all been repeatedly, criminally attacked. "On Thursday, among the people that I mobilised to ensure security for Governor, our election exercise and no longer the police, my personal security men, is the same attackers, and one of them has been nabbed on camera," the Govenner said. He added that not only have his policemen been attacked, but also innocent citizens. According to him, "In these cases that we see on social media, and the one that happened on Thursday to one of our policemen, I can attest to you that they were engaged in no illegal activity. They were just passing through Baderin Gosaise's bakery. "Baderin Gosaise was associated with us, but we have nothing to do with his murder. Whether you believe me or not, that will be the judgement on him. "We are fully mobilising the police. A lot of policemen were taken off the road because of the insurgents and we have mobilised against them. "As of now, our policemen are moving around but, unfortunately, when we are retreating, they attack us. "We are fully mobilised. If you believe them, they will not attack us. You don't have to be scared. If they encounter the police, they know we are far more

In writing and in literature there are times when a subject is so popular that writers choose to ignore it and write about something else. This happens when there are so many topics to write about that people don't find a proper use for another topic. For example, modern society spends much time and energy on the issue of gay rights, and other topics related to the rights of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender persons. But when a person comes out of the closet, he is no longer gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender. He is the self-identified person who chose to be gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender. Society still opposes that. But, as society continues to change its attitude, the person who chose to be gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender can be the accepted member of society. This is because he has been accepted. The person's social status does not depend on what he is. For example, a career woman is not affected negatively if she is a lesbian. The lesbian has earned a career and a position of respect and respectability. If this woman now reveals her lesbianism, she will not be discriminated against in the workplace. The woman's career is not destroyed if her heterosexual employer learns of her lesbianism. Her heterosexual employer will respect her for her career and her insightfulness. The same is true for a gay male. He has earned a career and a position of respect and respectability. If this gay male reveals his gayness, he will not be discriminated against in his workplace. His heterosexual employer will respect his insightfulness, his ability to market his products, and his broad understanding of the modern world. People need to see themselves the way their parents, friends and society see them. This is because people need to feel accepted in the world they live in. And not to feel accepted, and to be treated like the person his parents and friends consider him to be, is to be dead. Today when we have such a successful individual as Homosexual advocate and modern philosopher, we do not want to forget what he has said about personal freedom. We want to save him from the land of the dead so we can see him again. But, we will also ask him to show us the way so that we can be free. For example, do we want to be free or not free? Are we free or not free? If we are free, then we must be allowed to choose what is best for us. Not a priest, not a policeman, not a judge, not
