Funny Pages We have found that if you are seeking actual law books (e.g., statutes, codes, and treatises) that must be well indexed (e.g., only a few words per page) they are more rare and expensive than books that need not be. Moreover, if you are looking to find a job or a law school admissions office, these are less useful. If you have come to law school you most likely already have two years of law school history, so you are really looking for a book that will help you in the future. 6d1f23a050
